

REMEMBRANCE DAY IS IMPORTANT TO ME...

Remembrance Day is a very important time of year for me, as I am remembering my parent who has sadly died.
They served in the British Armed Forces.

I am being supported by Scotty's Little Soldiers, a charity which supports bereaved Forces children and young people. You can find out more about them on www.scottyslittlesoldiers.co.uk
To speak to Scotty's Little Soldiers email them on:

YOU CAN HELP ME BY...

SCOTTY'S LITTLE SOLDIERS

Giving me some time out when I need it.

Telling me when we will be discussing subjects like Remembrance, bereavement, war and conflict related topics.

Ask me how I am feeling and if I need any extra support.

Giving me choice to take part or not in lessons that I may find difficult.

Talk to me about my parent who has died, as I like to talk about them and their military service.

Helping me talk to an adult about how I am feeling.

Recognising that I may find it hard to concentrate in lessons at the moment.

Making sure people understand why we need to respect what Remembrance stands for.
